The San Diego Regional Alliance for Fair Housing (SDRAFFH), comprised of representatives from the participating jurisdictions listed above, Fair Housing professionals, and housing advocates conducted a comprehensive outreach process throughout San Diego County to identify barriers to Fair Housing choice, as well as strategies to address those challenges. SDRAFFH enlisted the support of MIG, Inc. and Veronica Tam and Associates in conducting the outreach. Over 1,204 community members and service providers provided input through the online questionnaire, stakeholder interviews, and community workshops.

The key findings from the public outreach and engagement process are summarized below.

- Frequent targets of discrimination include seniors, people with physical and/or mental disabilities, families with children, Section 8 recipients, undocumented immigrants, and non-native English speakers.
- The inadequate supply of housing in San Diego County impacts low-income households, large families, and households of color.
- Underreporting of discrimination occurs due to fear of retaliation, harassment, or deportation.
- Finding and accessing information about what housing is available, services, programs, and Fair Housing laws and regulations can be difficult and confusing.
- Language barriers, different dialects, and cultural differences can present challenges to building community awareness about Fair Housing.
- There are often misconceptions and misunderstandings about application requirements, reasonable accommodation requests, and the complex Fair Housing laws and terminology.
- Community leaders and representatives should be utilized to disseminate information and resources on Fair Housing issues, rights, and services.
- The SDRAFFH and service providers should go directly to the community and share information at community events, libraries, community centers, churches, swap meets, schools, transit centers, and other places where people congregate, particularly those people with the greatest needs.

The input and findings from the public participation activities will be incorporated into the development of the AI. The draft AI will be available for public review in Spring 2020.

I. Public Outreach Overview

In accordance with U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) regulations, community recipients of Federal community development block grant funds must certify that they are affirmatively furthering fairness and equal opportunity in housing for individuals and groups protected by the federal Fair Housing Act of 1968. To meet this obligation, jurisdictions that administer or directly receive federal funds from HUD are required to perform an Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice (AI) as part of their consolidated planning process for housing and community development programs. The AI covers the entirety of San Diego county, including the 18 incorporated cities and all unincorporated areas:

- City of Carlsbad
- City of Chula Vista
- City of Coronado
- City of Del Mar
- City of El Cajon
- City of Encinitas
- City of Escondido
- City of Imperial Beach
- City of La Mesa
- City of Lemon Grove
- City of National City
- City of Oceanside
- City of Poway
- City of San Diego
- City of San Marcos
- City of Santee
- City of Solana Beach
- City of Vista
- Unincorporated County

Outreach is an essential component of developing the AI. Engaging local communities and stakeholders is an effective approach to assessing the nature and extent of impediments to Fair Housing. Community members affected by restrictions to Fair Housing choice have the right to share their concerns and participate in the decision-making process to mitigate and/or eliminate barriers to Fair Housing.

The San Diego Regional Alliance for Fair Housing (SDRAFFH), comprised of representatives from the participating jurisdictions listed above, Fair Housing professionals, and housing advocates, in partnership with MIG, Inc. and Veronica Tam and Associates, facilitated a comprehensive outreach process throughout San Diego County to ensure a broad cross-section of residents, housing providers and professionals, interest groups, government agencies and community organizations participated in the AI development.

Between October and November 2019, MIG conducted six community workshops and nine stakeholder interviews. Interpreters were available for events that were likely to draw Spanish and Arabic-speaking stakeholders. Between October 2019 and February 2020, Veronica Tam and Associates conducted an online survey to collect additional public input. The online survey was available in English, Spanish, Arabic, Vietnamese, Tagalog, and Chinese. Print copies of the survey were available at community centers, libraries and civic buildings. The public events and online survey were promoted by the SDRAFFH with bilingual flyers, e-blasts, website updates, and social media posts. Local news outlets also promoted the survey and community workshops.

This report summarizes the key findings from the public engagement process regarding housing barriers, housing discrimination and Fair Housing priorities for San Diego County.

II. Key Audiences and Outreach Tools

The public engagement program offered a wide range of opportunities for residents and stakeholders to share input to inform the AI development. The community outreach efforts were designed to collect feedback from community members representing a diversity of perspectives, interests and needs.

At the outset of the outreach planning, MIG developed an Outreach Plan which described the activities that the SDRAFFH and consultant team would undertake to engage a diverse cross-section of the County and attract a wider audience to participate in the development of the AI. The Outreach Plan identified specific outreach goals, key stakeholders, outreach activities and preliminary messaging and notifications.

A. Outreach Goals

Overall, the goal of the Outreach Program is to educate and engage key stakeholders and the public related to the AI process and outcomes. To do so, the outreach goals included:

- Develop an inclusive and expansive database of key stakeholders and interested parties to involve in the process.
- Create and communicate clear, consistent and understandable explanations and messages about the purpose, process, and desired outcomes for the SDRAFFH and AI.
- Engage key stakeholders and interest groups early in the process to:
 - Build interest in, commitment to and trust in the process.
 - Develop initial understandings of effectiveness of existing Fair Housing programs and services.
 - Identify issue areas or gaps in service, opportunities and constraints across the region and within specific communities; and
 - Extend outreach through their networks to hard-to-reach stakeholders.
- Apply a diverse outreach toolkit of targeted communications and public participation activities that meet stakeholders' varying needs and ways of accessing information, and that best inform the technical process.
- Identify stakeholders' needs and priorities for Fair Housing at the local and regional levels to effectively inform the AI.

B. Key Stakeholders

The SDRAFFH sought to engage a broad range of community members and geographies across the County. In particular, the outreach program emphasized targeted engagement of "hard-to-reach" populations such as seniors, youth, people with disabilities, limited-English proficient communities, and low- and moderate-income residents. These traditionally under-represented groups are typically more vulnerable to housing discrimination. The key audiences targeted during the outreach process are outlined below.

- San Diego County residents
 - Low-to Moderate Income Residents

- Limited-English Proficient Residents
 - Seniors
 - Youth
 - Individuals with Disabilities
- Elected officials
- Executive staff from local jurisdictions and partner agencies
- Fair Housing service providers
- Developers /affordable housing developers (including mortgage lenders and affordable military housing developers)
- Housing advocates
- Disability advocates
- Minority advocates
- Real estate industry
- Apartment management associations and representatives
- Legal aid
- Non-profit and social service providers
- Neighborhood organizations
- Faith based organizations
- Local universities and colleges

A list of all stakeholder and service providers contacted is included in Appendix A.

C. Outreach Tools

Key stakeholders were targeted through a variety of outreach and engagement methods and tools. The tools used to raise awareness for the AI process and to promote the public input opportunities included:

- Multilingual flyers
- Multilingual e-blasts
- Websites of SDRAFFH
- Newsletters of SDRAFFH
- Social media of SDRAFFH (Facebook, Twitter, NextDoor, etc.)
- Facebook ads
- News media
- Communications of civic and partner agencies

Outreach efforts were designed to reach participants that are reflective of the demographics of the County including age, ethnicity, income and other characteristics. The online survey and community workshops were publicized broadly using a variety of communication methods.

An overview of the community outreach tools utilized in conducting the public participation process is presented on the following page (Table 1).

III. Public Input Opportunities and Activities

A key priority for the public engagement was to make participation easy and accessible. Outreach activities included an online survey, stakeholder interviews, and community workshops. Each of the activities are described in detail in the sections that follow. Table 4 summarizes the public input opportunities and activities on Page 13.

A. Online Survey

Veronica Tam and Associates launched an online survey to collect input from residents and stakeholders on Fair Housing and discrimination in October 2019. The survey remained open for approximately six months until February 14, 2020, collecting a total of 1,132 responses as follows:

Table 2: Online Survey Results

Language	Responses
English	1,089
Spanish	35
Arabic	3
Vietnamese	3
Tagalog	2
Chinese	0
Total	1,132

The online survey provided stakeholders who might not participate in a traditional workshop event with an opportunity to share their concerns, experiences and needs on their own time.

The survey was promoted by the SDRAFFH through multi-lingual flyers, e-blasts, website updates, news media, Facebook ads and social media posts. The survey was also printed and distributed at community centers, libraries and civic buildings. The online survey questions are available in Appendix B.

B. Stakeholder Interviews

In November and December 2019, MIG conducted interviews with key housing and community stakeholders to gather their insights into housing barriers, housing discrimination and Fair Housing priorities in San Diego County.

C. Community Workshops

Six community workshops were held in communities throughout the County in October and November 2019 to inform community members about Fair Housing issues, to gather input on housing needs, barriers, and priorities. Community workshops were publicized using multi-lingual flyers, e-blasts, websites updates, direct emails, and news and social media.

The interactive workshop format included brief presentations to describe Fair Housing and protected classes, as well as a description of the AI purpose and development process. Next, workshop attendees participated in a large group discussion regarding Fair Housing barriers and issues facing protected classes in San Diego County. Bilingual interpreters and staff assisted with workshop facilitation in areas that were likely to attract Spanish and Arabic speaking residents.

Approximately 63 individuals attended the community workshops. The locations and dates of the meetings were as follows:

Appendix C: Summary of Stakeholder Interviews

Format:

In November and December 2019, MIG conducted nine interviews with key housing and community stakeholders to gather their insights into housing barriers, housing discrimination and Fair Housing priorities in San Diego County. Project team members engaged key stakeholders who responded to requests for one-on-one interviews about the AI. Participants represented organizations that provide Fair Housing services, and or complementary and related support services.

A list of the nine stakeholders interviewed is included below:

	Organization	Stakeholder Name and Title
1.	Alliance for Regional Solutions	Mary Lynn McCorkle, Collaborations Manager
2.	CSA San Diego	Estela De Los Rios, Executive Director
3.	Elder Help San Diego	Robin Strickland, Housing Services Coordinator
4.	La Maestra Community Health Centers	John Kuek, Director of Integrated Community Services
5.	Legal Aid Society of San Diego County	Rosalina Spencer, Lead Lawyer
6.	National Alliance on Mental Illness	Aaron Basila, Community Outreach Worker
7.	Regional Task Force on the Homeless	Jennifer Yost, Director of Grants Management
8.	San Diego Housing Federation	Laura Nunn, Director of Policy and Programs
9.	Southern California Rental Housing Association	Molly Kirkland, Director of Public Affairs

Each interview subject was asked nine questions. They were assured that their responses would be summarized only in aggregate, and therefore were encouraged to speak freely.

Summary of Discussion:

The following is a summary of major ideas, thoughts, and themes that emerged from these interviews, organized by question.

1. Briefly describe your agency's role in addressing Fair Housing needs in the region. What geographic area and mix of clients do you serve?

The Alliance for Regional Solutions (Alliance) is a collaboration of over 70 non-profit organizations, eight North County cities (Carlsbad, Oceanside, Poway, San Marcos, Vista, Escondido, Encinitas, and Solana Beach), and the County of San Diego. The Alliance includes five collaborative working groups: Bridge to Housing Committee, North County Food Policy Council, North County Case Manager's Network, North County Works, and Senior Action Alliance. The Alliance partner agencies serve clients living in poverty or homelessness, and low-income individuals and families.

CSA San Diego County is a Fair Housing provider that offers a variety of services including educational Fair Housing seminars for tenants and landlords; Fair Housing counseling and dispute mediation; services to tenants, landlords, and apartment managers; and rental practice discrimination audits or testing. They also ensure protection under Fair Housing laws that address discrimination and harassment and provide assistance in handling Fair Housing disputes including filing complaints with the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

Elder Help provides residential services to low income tax credit buildings for residents aged 55 and up. Elder Help also provides housing consultations to individuals aged 60 and up who are experiencing homelessness or housing insecurity to help connect them to resources. In addition, Elder Help oversees the HomeShare program, a roommate matching program, that connects people of all ages who want to share a private home, apartment, condo, or manufactured home in San Diego, Carlsbad and Poway.

La Maestra Community Health Centers have provided specialty services including behavioral and mental health, chronic disease management, and essential support services to San Diego's most culturally diverse and lowest income communities since 1997. Sites are provided in City Heights, El Cajon, National City, Lemon Grove, and at three school-based sites in San Ysidro; serving communities that are home to recently settled refugees and immigrants from more than 60 countries. In addition to health services, La Maestra provides housing assistance support and help to educate tenants and landlords about Fair Housing rights.

Legal Aid San Diego receives funding from HUD, and from the Community Development Block Grant Program (CBDG), which is tied to specific cities in the region. As part of their HUD funding, Legal Aid offers free help to eligible persons who have questions or problems with Section 8, tax credit or other public housing; provides Fair Housing services in the City and County of San Diego at their Fair Housing Center; and conducts systematic audit testing of different protective classes every year. As part of their CBDG funding, Legal Aid provides testing, intake and enforcement of Federal and State Fair Housing Laws for the County of San Diego, City of San Diego, Escondido, San Marcos, Vista, Oceanside, Encinitas, and Carlsbad.

The Regional Task Force on the Homeless merged with the Regional Continuum of Care (COC), a consortium of representatives tasked with strategic planning and coordination of resources with the collective goal of ending homelessness in the San Diego region. The Task Force administers the Homeless Management Information System to capture and report on client, project, and system level information regarding homeless services; oversees the Coordinated Entry System (CES), a list of all people in the region experiencing homelessness to be referred to available housing inventory; and works with service providers to ensure that receive appropriate training and education throughout the year.

The National Alliance on Mental Illness (NAMI) operates the Connection 2 Community Clubhouse, which serves as a referral center to help San Diegans deal with homelessness by connecting them with various services from employment training to housing.

The San Diego Housing Federation advocates for those with very low incomes who are most severely impacted by the absence of an adequate supply of affordable housing in the San Diego region. The Federation also offers professional training for residential support network, supportive housing learning network, and members; and partners with the SDRAFFH to host a Fair Housing Conference annually.

The Southern California Rental Housing Association is a trade association that provide education and advocacy to individuals and companies who own, manage, or provide services to the rental housing industry throughout San Diego County, Southern Riverside County, and Imperial County. They offer educational opportunities on Fair Housing throughout the year including quarterly classes, continuing education opportunities, Fair Housing Light for independent rental owners, and are an affiliate of the National Apartment Association, which provides online trainings.

2. Overall, what do you find to be the greatest challenges to building community awareness about Fair Housing in your communities?

- Keeping up with the changes to laws and regulations related to protected classes, court opinions, etc. and then ensuring that owners and property managers are well informed.
- Many homeowners don't want to see change in their communities and elected officials side with homeowners in this respect.
- Language barriers are a challenge because tenants cannot communicate with their landlords or property managers to make requests.
- Seniors and individuals with hearing impairments also have difficulty in communicating with landlords or service providers.
- Not having a shared common language about housing issues or housing terminology (ex. HUD definition vs. definitions of permanent supportive housing).
- Housing instability caused by tenants not having a clear understanding of different housing program requirements (ex. Sponsor based vouchers have different requirements than project-based vouchers), or where to look for housing programs or services.
- Identifying community partners and organizations to share information with and provide trainings to so Fair Housing information gets disseminated to the people that need it most.
- Apathy from community at large to address Fair Housing issues.
- Narrow lack of understanding of Fair Housing and the broader implications at the community level.

3. What are the most common barriers to housing you hear about in your service area?

- Large and diverse geographic area.
- Language:

- Language barriers and differences between dialects and translation needs make communication difficult.
 - Landlord would not wait for prospective tenant to get translator to review application documents and moved onto the next in line.
- Financial:
 - Providing security deposit of three months rent upfront.
 - Credit checks have little regulation and no standard rules for what is evaluated or what a tenant can expect.
- Housing Affordability:
 - More than 35% of people living in shelters have a job and income but they still don't have the means to move into an affordable home.
 - Many seniors have social security income, but it is not enough to afford the high cost of rent in the region.
 - Lack of financial resources for large families and the shortage of apartments that are large enough to accommodate large families. Families cannot afford to rent a five-bedroom house, but landlords do not want to rent a three-bedroom apartment to a family of ten.
 - Tight rental market - Vacancy rate is very low so there isn't a lot of available housing.
 - Landlords can be selective with who they choose to rent to and often they are not following the Fair Housing rules.
 - One of the lowest ratios of permanent supportive housing in the Country limits options.
 - Lack of regulations rent control regulations.
 - Difficulty of finding a place to live with a Section 8 voucher.
- Technology:
 - Many seniors or low-income individuals do not have access to a computer, library, or events.
 - Technology or avenues for finding information are always evolving.
- Transportation:
 - Limited hours and routes make it difficult for people to visit service providers or to use for finding available housing.
- Awareness:
 - Many low-income individuals and familiar are not aware of services.
 - It can be difficult for people to find information on places that are available for rent as there is no centralized location or place to find housing.
- Miscommunications
 - Between landlords and prospective tenants.
 - Between tenants and service providers.
- Individuals with disabilities
 - Mental health issues such as hoarding and anxiety can also make finding housing difficult.
 - Difficult to find housing that is accessible for people with disabilities.
- Housing for Families:
 - Difficult to find housing for families with young children.

- Landlords don't check for proof of income because they feel large families don't have the financial means or they are concerned that the children are going to damage the unit.
- Poor quality of housing
 - Landlords don't want to pay to fix up properties and tenants don't know their rights about what is required

4. What are greatest misconceptions or misunderstandings that you hear in your service area? What do you think might be the sources of misinformation?

- Difficult or complex laws, requirements, and programs:
 - The difference between Federal and State Fair Housing laws and regulations, especially if landlords or managers have operated in different parts of the county where the requirements vary.
 - Different jurisdictions have different requirements and waitlists for Section 8.
 - Misunderstandings about when they can apply and where they can apply.
 - Perception that some people are "skipping the line" or being served out of order.
 - Many individuals are becoming housing insecure after they retire and are on a fixed income. They are trying to figure out how to navigate the process for the first time later in life.
 - Confusing disability and accommodation requirements including the difference between service animals and therapy or emotional support animals.
 - Assuming that completing Housing Determination Survey (VSI-SPDAT) will lead to receiving free housing.
- Role of different agencies or service providers:
 - Individuals thinking that Fair Housing providers can resolve all housing related issues including finding units to rent, finding affordable housing units, providing subsidies for deposits or rent, etc.
 - Don't understand the difference between HUD, the Housing Commission, or Housing Authority and how to navigate the different agencies.
- Terminology:
 - The term "discrimination" can be defined differently between different people.
 - "Discrimination" is used as a catch-all term when discussing disputes between tenants and landlords; however, discrimination has a specific legal definition.
 - Definition of "affordable housing" varies in different regions.
 - Term "affordable" many still not be affordable to many individuals
 - Different programs define affordability in different ways.
 - "No bad intent" behind discrimination
 - Not meaning to discriminate is still discrimination if it violates federal or state laws
 - Not understanding what being evicted means. Many tenants believe they have been evicted because their landlord has asked them to leave, but they have not received eviction paperwork and they have no court record of eviction.

- Othering of People:
 - Fear or lack of understanding about individuals that are homeless, suffering from mental illness, or multiple families residing in one home.
 - Misconception that homeless individuals want to live on the street.
 - Misconceptions that people in permanent supportive housing are different or scary.
- Perception that civil rights act fixed Fair Housing and that housing discrimination is no longer occurring.

5. What are the greatest challenges for your agency in meeting Fair Housing needs?

- Under Reporting of Discrimination.
 - Many tenants are not sharing experiences of discrimination until after the fact.
 - People are not reporting discrimination due to fear of retaliation.
 - People don't take Fair Housing seriously until they have an issue with their landlord. In addition, often tenants want an immediate remedy and want to take their landlord to court immediately. However, once they realize the length for time it takes to pursue legal action, they don't pursue the complaint with HUD.
- Access to information:
 - It is difficult to find the right information on websites.
 - Staff at public agencies are overloaded with requests, which makes it difficult to reach staff to answer questions, to get on Section 8 waitlists, or to get extensions on Section 8 vouchers.
- Many homeless individuals do not even have the documentation (i.e. identification documents, birth certificate, Social Security Information) to apply to programs. The first step is getting required documentation before they can even apply and get on the waitlist.
- Section 8 Waitlist is over 10 years
 - Many families may increase their family size after getting their Section 8 voucher and want to stay in same place; however, many landlords want families to leave
- Housing Affordability:
 - Many families are leaving California due to the high cost of housing
- Not In My Backyard (NIMBYism) and opposition to growth:
 - Presents an added challenge to build new housing
 - Siting of permanent supportive housing or shelters is difficult

6. Which protected classes' needs for Fair Housing in our region do you believe are relatively well served? Which protected classes have the greatest needs for improved service, and why?

- Relatively well served protected classes:
 - Veterans are relatively well served compared to some of the other protected classes.

- Disabled tenants with physical disabilities are the most documented cases.
- Have greatest needs:
 - Disabled tenants
 - Limited accessible housing options.
 - Systematic separation of people with disabilities (mental illness, development disabilities, etc.)
 - Lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, and queer (LGBTQ) are experiencing increasing discrimination.
 - Large families especially related to the application of related to occupancy standard because landlords are not applying industry standard of two people per bedroom plus one.
 - Tenants using Section 8 vouchers because the standards have recently changed.
 - Seniors and aging population
 - Housing that accommodates allowing them to age in place.
 - Limited incomes mean seniors are often one payment away from not being able to afford housing.
 - Religious discrimination - East African community has faced discrimination based on religion, language, and race.
 - Homeless individuals and families
 - Male couples are often separated.
 - Single fathers have limited options.
 - Military veterans with post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD) have special housing needs.

7. What community assets exist today that could be better leveraged in addressing Fair Housing?

- Banks could be better leveraged to promote first home time buyer program. Fair Housing also applies to for-sale units and loan lending and the practice of redlining.
- North County elected officials hold community forums on specific topics such as housing and homelessness, could use these forums as a touchpoint with the community to share information on Fair Housing or future workshops.
- Utilize existing list serves from different non-profits to dissemination information and provide information at monthly or quarterly meetings hosted by different agencies so information is shared on an on-going basis.
- Established community groups and centers
 - Utilize community centers, religious facilities and leaders to provide access to communities and disseminate information (Ex. South Sudanese Community Center and Ethiopian Community Center)
 - Share information on social media pages and in different languages
- Hold pop-up events at transit stations or libraries where there is already high foot traffic and visibility.
- Post information on Next Door.
- Utilizing 211 to help direct people to resources.
- Additional education and resources:
 - Provide a resource binder with information on Fair Housing to help train staff and visitors to non-profits, housing service providers, etc.
 - Provide trainings specifically targeted to landlords or property managers.
 - Landlords and property managers are often intimidated to go to trainings offered by Fair Housing service providers, so having a training offered by a government entity or non-profit that doesn't serve as a Fair Housing provider would be helpful.

8. What types of improvements to inter-agency coordination could improve Fair Housing service in the region?

- Landlords and property owners sometimes find themselves being taken advantage of when it comes to Fair Housing laws, for example when it comes to emotional support animals. Fair Housing laws are intended to help both residents avoid discrimination and landlords avoid complaints.
- Every jurisdiction has different political dynamics and processes, reducing bureaucratic layers and better organization could help improve coordination.
- SDRAFFH Fair Housing Conference allows advocates and community groups to be in the same space as City staffers, and other HUD implementers. Provides a venue to develop a shared understanding of challenges and implementation.
- Jurisdictions are subject to rules, regulations and requirements and the emphasis is on being compliant and checking boxes not on providing quality Fair Housing implementation. Focus needs to shift to thinking about why the rules and regulations exist in the first place.
- Create a shared database of agencies and programs

- Share information on what each agency does and the type of cases they take on
 - Provide information on program eligibility requirements, openings, or waitlist times.
- Training
 - Provide additional training opportunities and avenues for sharing information such as a tip of the week email blast that provides updates on new laws and regulations.
 - Collaborating with non-profits to provide wrap-around services and trainings.
- Improve diversity of service providers and bring in broader community to discuss challenges and potential solutions.
- Having Council Members and Board of Supervisors on boards of different organizations and non-profits can help facilitate conversations.

9. What are the best ways to promote and outreach for the Analysis of Impediments workshops and surveys?

- Provide notices and survey links to landlord and property manager groups so they can distribute information in weekly emails.
- Place advertisements on Billboards or signage at Trolley stations, or other areas where people congregate such as at churches, stores, swap meets.
- Work with service providers, qualified health centers, bridge shelters, family health centers.
- Partner with elected officials or city staff to disseminate information on the AI.
- Link promotion of the AI to other topics that people are interested in such as homelessness or a specific project.
- Look at reaching people where they congregate or seek out information such as at community fairs or through 211.
- Send notification of workshops to all individuals on the Section 8 waitlist and or those receiving housing vouchers.
- Share with community centers, religious facilities, and community leaders
 - Recognize cultural differences.
 - Find leader at each established community center or mosque and ask for guidance on how to best provide information to community – they will provide the opening for sharing information with the community.
 - Ask residents where they go for information.

10. Do you have any additional comments or ideas related to the AI or the future of Fair Housing in the region?

- Recommend that landlords post their evaluation criteria in advertisements, so it is clear how they are evaluating prospective tenants. If tenants understand upfront what the criteria there were being reviewed against it could help them understand the qualifying process better.
- Housing Crisis

SAN DIEGO REGIONAL
ANALYSIS OF IMPEDIMENTS TO FAIR HOUSING CHOICE

- Need more housing. The lack of supply is leading to more Fair Housing issues. Need to build more housing units to get out of the current housing crisis.
 - Fair Housing needs to be front and center in the housing crisis discussion.
- Many people are not aware of reasonable accommodations, or other rights they have under Fair Housing law. Getting information out to tenants is important because many people only contact housing providers after the fact, or after they have moved out. It is better to try to intervene earlier.
- Supportive housing with other supportive services such as behavioral health and employment training is also important.
- The siting of permanent supportive housing should occur throughout the County along transportation lines, within proximity to other amenities such as mental health services, health care, grocery store, parks, and good school systems. Many individuals do not want to be located downtown in permanent supportive housing because they have experienced trauma in downtown and do not want to be retraumatized.

Appendix D: Summary of Community Workshop Discussion & Wall Graphics

Format:

In November and December 2019, MIG conducted six community workshops throughout the County to inform community members about Fair Housing issues, to gather input on housing needs, barriers, and priorities. The following pages summarize the key discussion points and display the wall graphics that were recorded at the six workshops.

Approximately 63 individuals attended the community workshops. The locations and dates of the meetings were as follows:

	Area of County	Location	Date
1.	Central Region	LISC San Diego, San Diego, CA	October 30, 2019
2.	Eastern Region	El Cajon Police Department, El Cajon, CA	November 6, 2019
3.	Northern Region	Escondido City Hall, Escondido, CA	November 7, 2019
4.	Central Region	Valencia Park/Malcolm X Library	November 13, 2019
5.	Southern Region	Chula Vista City Hall, Chula Vista, CA	November 20, 2019
6.	Southern Region	MLK Jr. Community Center, National City, CA	November 21, 2019

Summary of Discussion and Questions:

1. Have you (or someone you know) ever experienced housing discrimination? For what reason do you believe you have been discriminated against? (e.g. age, family, status, race, etc.)
 - Individual that was homeless for a period of time had difficulty accessing programs because they did not fit special categories (veteran, physically disabled) to qualify for assistance.
 - Individual had difficulty getting an apartment due to sexual orientation.
 - Individual had to pay a larger deposit for an emotional support animal.
 - Individual's dad was deported, and the apartment rent was increased shortly after deportation.
 - Woman with adopted children had difficulty securing housing.
 - Families with children with autism experienced discrimination.
 - Individuals have experienced discrimination based on their source of income or the type of work they do.
2. If you believe you've been discriminated against, have you reported the incident? Who did you report the incident to? Where did you go for help? What was your experience with the person/organization that helped you?
 - The burden of proof is on the person who has been discriminated against.
 - Costs and length of time for litigation related to pursuing legal action are often a deterrent for reporting incidents.
 - Parolee that was experiencing discrimination for having a criminal record did not report the incident because he was afraid of being reported to probation officer.

- People are afraid of reporting incidents because fear of retaliation, harassment, or deportation.

3. What are the most common barriers to housing in your community?

- Accessing Information
 - Many people have difficulty finding information about Fair Housing. Need to find a way to transfer information to those who need it most.
 - Everything is electronic, which can be difficult for people who do not have access to a computer or internet.
 - Ensuring information is accurate and from the right sources is important.
 - Advocacy is important. Need to know who can point you towards the right information.
 - Cultural differences in how information and resources can be provided to different communities. For example, can't be completely reliant on Iman to provide information to Muslim community.
 - There is a lack of education in school about laws and rights. There should be classes for high-school students to provide basic fundamentals.
- Lack of transparency in process
 - It is unclear and confusing what the different options are. The type of voucher people may have received may not be accepted widely at different complexes.
 - The applicant process is confusing and application requirements vary from place to place.
- Language
 - Many different languages and dialects can present translation challenges.
 - Some papers have housing ads in foreign languages, but housing is not posted anywhere else. For example, local Chinese papers that have rental listings but not posted elsewhere. So, in practice only Chinese speaking/reading people will see those ads and the landlord will only end up renting to people who can read Chinese.
- Availability and Affordability
 - Long Section 8 waiting list.
 - Low vacancy rate means fewer units available.
 - Shortage of housing units that are available for individuals or families making 25% of the Area Median Income (AMI).
 - Low-income individuals or families have a difficult time providing upfront deposits.
- There is fear and anxiety associated with looking for place to live. Many people are desperate to find a place and it is out of their control.
- Barriers are often layered: Race, gender, language, etc.

4. What protected classes have the greatest needs for improved service, and why?

- Concern expressed that income-level should be a protected class. Stated that the requirement to provide two to three times the amount of rent upfront presents affordability challenges and difficulty in securing housing.
- Seniors
 - There is not enough housing for seniors. They often face unique challenges related to physical ailments, mental capacity, lack of advocates, and are vulnerable to people taking advantage of them.

- Landlords don't want to rent to seniors due to concerns about hoarding, mental illness and substance abuse.
- Disability
 - Disabled tenants especially if the disability is not visible or obvious.
 - Mental Illness
 - Not as many programs for individuals with mental illness.
 - Many veterans and homeless are suffering from mental illness.
- Victims of Domestic Violence
 - It can be difficult for victims to access services when they need to leave an unsafe situation. They have to live on the street in order to qualify for help. If staying with friends then don't qualify for assistance
- Arbitrary factors such as tattoos or hairstyles.
- County or Origin
 - People discriminated against because they have non-English surnames

5. What are the greatest misconceptions or misunderstandings about housing barriers that you hear in your community? What do you think may be the sources of this misinformation?

- Prospective tenants think they have to pay for a new background check for every application. If a tenant is turned down for an apartment, they can reuse the background check within 30 calendar days.
- Misconceptions about what constitutes a reasonable accommodation request. There are some accommodations that are typical and often easy to have enforced. Other accommodations are addressed case by case because laws are not explicit. Requires 3rd party verification.

6. What do you think are the greatest challenges to building community awareness about Fair Housing in your community?

- Improve messaging.
 - Need to improve how information is provided to community members.
 - Relate notices and information to people's lives
 - Let people know they are going to learn something
 - Make sure messages are written in laypersons terms.
 - Make sure engaging landlords so it is not an "us" vs. "them" conversation
 - Documents are too complex and should be simplified and available in different languages.
 - Need to make sure that there are representatives at different agencies and providers that can communicate in different languages of local community.
- Go directly to communities to provide information.
 - Information should be provided at community gathering places, churches, schools, colleges, and at community and cultural events.
 - Connect with community leaders to disseminate information. These leaders can serve as local ambassadors to the community.
 - Place flyers in laundromats and family resource centers.
 - Find captured audiences at established community meetings.
 - Hold pop-up events at local community centers or events.
 - Go to senior housing complexes and provide information on Fair Housing rights.

- Partner with organizations and groups to share information.
 - Target specific cultural groups for outreach in East County such as the Afghani, Iranian, Chaldean, Pakistani, Kurdish, and Indian groups.
 - Reach out to faith-based organizations (ex. Spanish language churches).
 - Partner with organizations that are having an event. Provide quick and simple presentations/announcements at the beginning of events and provide surveys and resource guides.
 - Incentivize and expand how information can be seen/heard.
 - Provide incentives such as refreshments, free daycare, and raffle prizes.
 - Use Facebook live posts to broadcast workshops and what's app group posts to get the word out.
- 7. Do you have any additional comments or ideas related to the Analysis of Impediments (AI) and the future of Fair Housing in the region?
- Should have a universal rental application to make it easier for tenants to apply and less expensive for landlords to develop.
 - Tap into 211 Community Information Exchange to help share information in an accessible database.

Questions & Answers:

- 1. What is an example of a reasonable accommodation?
 - An example would be modifying a tub or shower so a tenant can access.
- 2. Can you refuse to rent based on the number of tenants. For example, a one-bedroom apartment for three or more tenants?
 - It can depend on the square footage of the apartment and is determined on a case-by-case basis
- 3. What happens if you have a couple that rents the apartment and then they invite another individual to live there?
 - If the individual is over 18, they would have to be on the lease agreement.
- 4. What are the criteria for translating documents into different languages?
 - If there is a certain population, then documents should be provided in languages
- 5. How do you prove there is discrimination?
 - Testing is one way to find out if discrimination is taking place
 - CSA and Legal aid will still look into it even if not concrete proof and will look into why application denied. They can also evaluate further with testing.
- 6. If you are using a Section 8 voucher does the landlord have to pay for improvements?
 - No, because the individual is receiving the government subsidy.
- 7. What is the process if someone makes a complaint to a Fair Housing service provider?
 - It depends on the complaint. The provider will first determine the best investigative tool to use. They will also make a request to HUD to see if prior complaints have been filed, interview witnesses, and potentially perform testing. The first step is often to reach out to the landlord or provider to have an initial discussion.
- 8. Is the landlord able to choose a more qualified applicant even if they are not the first to apply?

- As long as the landlord is using one consistent policy for reviewing applications. The first in and qualified policy is the most risk adverse. However, nothing mandates that a landlord use this policy.
- 9. Do Fair Housing laws cover poor living conditions?
- Will likely fall under Landlord and Tennant Laws unless only people of certain protected class are experiencing these issues.
- 10. Do Fair Housing laws apply to the purchase of a home?
- Yes, they apply in housing transactions.
- 11. Are prospective tenants required to provide a social security number on their application?
- A tax identification number can also be provided. Landlords have a right to screen tenants but a SSN is not necessary to do they, there are other ways to prove tenants have verifiable income.
- 12. Do landlords have to advertise what their evaluation criteria are?
- No, there is no legal requirement, but it is good practice.
- 13. What is the difference between service animal and emotional support animal?
- Emotional support animals are not trained and not allowed in public spaces. Service animals are trained and are allowed in public spaces.
- 14. How can you verify that it is a service animal? Will a tag suffice as documentation?
- Can ask for documentation as part of reasonable accommodation request. Yes, a tag can suffice. A service animal is only a dog or a pony.
- 15. If I already have four pets, do I have to allow a service animal onsite?
- Yes
- 16. If an apartment says no pets allowed, do they have to allow emotional support animals?
- Yes
- 17. If it is an emotional support animal or service animal, can you require pet deposit or pet rent or insurance?
- No
- 18. Does the AI look at the Regional Housing Needs Allocation in the analysis?
- New laws will require COGs to look at Fair Housing in RHNA methodology
- 19. Can you raise rent to cover liability issues associated with children?
- No
- 20. Does landlord have to clean apartment before tenant moves in?
- The property must be habitable for people to live in.

Scenario #1

☒ This is not OK

13

Did You Know?

It is illegal to discriminate against an individual's "source of income" – which can include, but is not limited to, Social Security, Supplemental Security Income (SSI), unemployment insurance, or veteran's benefits.

Most recently, California law is expanded to include "federal, state, or local public assistance, and federal, state, or local housing subsidies" as part of the "source of income" protection

Did You Know?

The right to be accompanied by a dog in public places under the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) applies only to service animals.

But,

- What about therapy animals?

Those that provide psychological or physiological therapy to individuals other than their handlers

- Or emotional support animals?

Those that provide their owners with emotional comfort

These animals are addressed in fair housing laws, but not ADA.

17

A tenant with a disability asks to have her kitchen and bathroom counters lowered. The landlord agrees but asks the tenant to pay for the changes herself. Is this ok?

- ☒ This is OK
☐ This is not OK

19

Did You Know?

Tenants with a disability are financially responsible for any necessary improvements to their housing unit.

But, if the housing unit is part of a government subsidized project or received government funding, then the property owner would be financially responsible.

Did You Know?

This is called steering and it is illegal.
A landlord can not restrict certain tenants to specific units or specific locations of the community

Scenario #5

A couple has been paying $1,000 a month in rent for a one-bedroom apartment. However, the pair recently had a baby, and when a landlord finds out, she raises the rent to $1,250. Is this ok?

- ☐ This is OK

- ☐ This is OK
☒ This is not OK

25

Did You Know?

Varying the rent for a unit based on the number of tenants—sometimes referred to as “head rent”—discriminates against large families.

But,

- What if the additional third person is an unrelated friend?
- What if it is a significant other?
- What if it is a same sex significant other?

A number of factors can influence whether a rent increase violates fair housing laws.

If this has happened to you, contact a fair housing professional for advice.

Definición de Vivienda Justa

- La vivienda justa describe una condición en la cual las personas con niveles de ingresos similares en el mismo mercado de vivienda tienen a su disposición un rango similar de elección, independientemente de su estatus de clase protegida.
- Prohíbe la discriminación en la elección de vivienda por pertenecer a una clase protegida

- Problemas entre Inquilino / Propietario
 - Las disputas entre inquilinos y propietarios no son problemas de vivienda justa, a menos que las disputas se basen en clases protegidas

¿Sabía Usted?

Es ilegal discriminar contra la “fuente de ingresos” de un individual – cual puede incluir, pero no se limita a, Seguro Social, Seguridad de Ingreso Suplementario (SSI), seguridad del desempleo o beneficios de veteranos.

Recientemente, la ley de California se amplió para incluir "asistencia pública federal, estatal o local, y subsidios de vivienda federales, estatales o locales" como parte de la protección de "fuente de ingresos"

¿Sabia Usted?

Inquilinos discapacitados son financieramente responsables por cambios necesarios en su unidad de vivienda.

Pero, si la unidad es parte de un proyecto de vivienda subvencionado por el gobierno o recibe fondos del gobierno, el propietario es financieramente responsable.

Caso #4

Un propietario no quiere alquilar una unidad de segundo piso a una familia con niños pequeños porque teme que los niños se puedan caer y lastimarse. ¿Esto es aceptable?

¿Sabía usted?

Variar la renta de una unidad dependiendo del número de inquilinos – a veces se le refiere como “head rent” – discrimina contra familias grandes.

Pero,

- ¿Que tal si la adición de una tercera person es un amigo sin relación familiar?
- ¿Que tal si es nuestra pareja?
- ¿Que tal si es nuestra pareja del mismo sexo?

Un numero de factores pueden influir si el aumento a la renta viola las leyes de vivienda justa.

Si esto le ha pasado, póngase en contacto con un profesional de vivienda justa para que le aconsejen.

What is Fair Housing?

Fair Housing is the right to choose housing free from unlawful discrimination. Fair housing laws protect people from discrimination in housing based on race, color, religion, sex, national origin, familial status, disability, marital status, and age. Discrimination is illegal in housing transactions such as rentals, sales, lending, and insurance.

It ensures access for everyone. Fair housing is the key to all people having the roof they want over their heads. It guarantees that regardless of your age, race, religion, family situation or level of ability, you have the right to choose the housing that's best for your needs—with no outside preferences or stereotypes being imposed.

It encourages neighborhoods to put out their welcome mat. Fair housing practices help people understand what it means to be a welcoming and vibrant neighborhood. The ideas, connections and sense of pride that are found in diverse and open neighborhoods make a real difference, especially in the midst of tough economic times.

It enhances our community's curb appeal. Equal access to housing goes hand in hand with quality of life. Fair housing plants seeds for economic development, talent retention and more in our community. When people feel welcomed, they make themselves at home, invest their resources back into the community and, in turn, make it an appealing place for diverse and talented people to come.

¿Cómo es la Discriminación?

INTER-ACTIVE ACTIVITY - WHAT DOES DISCRIMINATION LOOK LIKE?

INSTRUCTIONS:

Participants are encouraged to come up and spin the arrow on the “What Does Discrimination Look Like?” Board. Participation can be encouraged through swag giveaways.

Step 1: Each participant will spin the arrow on the board (see board game spinner example below).

Step 2: Once the arrow lands on one of the identified protected classes within the circle, the facilitator reads the associated “Example” text below and asks the participant “Is this discrimination?”

Step 3: After the participant responds, the facilitator then reads the “Support” details to provide Fair Housing legal information.

Fair Housing – Protected Classes Examples:

Protected Class	Example	Support
SEX/GENDER	A young woman asks about renting an apartment, but the landlord tells her there are no available apartments. However, an hour later, when a young man asks about renting an apartment, the same landlord informs the white woman about two available apartments. Is this discrimination?	Under Fair Housing laws, it is illegal for housing providers to misrepresent the availability of housing based on protected characteristics like sex/gender.
SOURCE OF INCOME	A family with a rental subsidy locates an available apartment but the building's rental manager tells the family that the landlord does not accept any "programs" and suggests they look elsewhere for housing. Is this discrimination?	Many Fair Housing laws make it unlawful to discriminate based on lawful source of income, including the use of a housing subsidy.
RACE	A Latino family meets with a real estate broker about purchasing a home in a suburban community that happens to be predominantly white. Instead the broker recommends homes in two communities which are predominantly Hispanic. The agent tells the family that they will likely be "more comfortable" in these communities. Is this discrimination?	Under Fair Housing laws, it is illegal for housing providers to steer individuals into or away from certain buildings, parts of buildings, or neighborhoods to segregate populations.
NATIONAL ORIGIN	The president of a condominium board discloses to a white resident that he refuses to rent or sell apartments to Asian Americans because "their food is too smelly" and it might offend others in the building. Is this discrimination?	Under Fair Housing laws, it is illegal for housing providers to refuse to rent, sell, insure or finance housing, or refuse to negotiate for housing, or otherwise make housing unavailable based on race or national origin.
AGE	A new rental building advertises available apartments as being perfect for young professionals. While taking a tour of the available units, an elderly prospective tenant is told by the leasing agent, "This apartment building was really designed to meet the lifestyle needs of younger single people with	Under Fair Housing laws, it is illegal for housing providers to advertise or make any statements that indicate a preference, limitation, or discrimination based on age. lots of amenities geared to help today's millennials socialize. Is this discrimination?

FAMILIAL STATUS	A single woman with three children applies to rent a two-bedroom apartment and she is told that no more than three people can reside in their two-bedroom apartments. Is this discrimination?	Under Fair Housing laws, it is illegal to establish overly restrictive occupancy standards that discriminate against families with children.
RELIGION	A Muslim man arrives home to discover that a racial and religious slur has been spray-painted across his apartment door. The tenant asks his building superintendent to repair his door. The apartment manager refuses to do so. Is this discrimination?	Under Fair Housing laws, it is illegal for housing providers to harass or fail to take corrective action regarding complaints about racial or religious harassment.
DISABILITY	An elderly Deaf man he his nursing home if they would provide an ASL interpreter so that he can communicate with his in-house medical team on days when they meet with him. The nursing home refuses citing the added expense as the reason for refusing his request. Is this discrimination?	Under Fair Housing laws, it is illegal for housing providers to refuse to provide a reasonable accommodation by altering rules, policies, practices, or services for persons with disabilities when such an accommodation is needed for effective communication so that the housing can be fully used and enjoyed.

ACTIVIDAD INTERACTIVA - ¿CÓMO ES LA DISCRIMINACIÓN?

INSTRUCTIONS:

Se invita a los participantes a acercarse y girar la flecha del tablero "¿Cómo se ve la discriminación?". La participación puede fomentarse a través de regalos.

Paso 1: Cada participante hará girar la flecha en el tablero (ver ejemplo del tablero más abajo).

Paso 2: Una vez que la flecha aterrice en una de las clases protegidas identificadas dentro del círculo, el facilitador lee el aviso asociado a continuación y pregunta al participante "¿Es esto discriminación?"

Paso 3: Después de que el participante responda, el facilitador lee la información en cursiva para proporcionar información legal adicional sobre la vivienda justa.

Fair Housing – Protected Classes Examples:

CLASES PROTEGIDAS	EJEMPLO	APOYO
SEXO/GÉNERO	Una joven pregunta sobre el alquiler de un apartamento, pero el propietario le dice que no hay apartamentos disponibles. Sin embargo, una hora más tarde, cuando un joven pregunta sobre el alquiler de un apartamento, el mismo propietario informa a la mujer blanca sobre dos apartamentos disponibles. ¿Es esto discriminación?	Según las leyes de vivienda justa, es ilegal que los proveedores de vivienda mientan sobre la disponibilidad de viviendas basándose en características protegidas como el sexo/género.
FUENTE DE INGRESOS	Una familia con un subsidio de alquiler localiza un apartamento disponible pero el administrador de alquileres del edificio le dice a la familia que el propietario no acepta ningún "programa" y le sugiere que busque una vivienda en otro lugar. ¿Es esto discriminación?	Muchas leyes de vivienda justa establecen que es ilegal discriminar en función de la fuente legal de ingresos, incluido el uso de un subsidio de vivienda.
RAZA	Una familia latina se reúne con un agente de bienes raíces para comprar una casa en una comunidad suburbana que resulta ser predominantemente de gente de raza blanca. El agente recomienda casas en dos comunidades que son predominantemente hispanas. El agente le dice a la familia que es probable que se sientan "más cómodos" en estas comunidades. ¿Es esto discriminación?	Según las leyes de vivienda justa, es ilegal que los proveedores de vivienda dirijan a las personas hacia ciertos edificios, partes de edificios o vecindarios para segregar a las poblaciones.
PAIS DE ORIGEN	El presidente de una junta de condominios revela a un residente blanco que se niega a alquilar o vender apartamentos a personas de origen asiático-americanos porque "su comida huele mucho" y podría ofender a otros en el edificio. ¿Es esto discriminación?	Según las leyes de vivienda justa, es ilegal que los proveedores de vivienda se nieguen a alquilar, vender, asegurar o financiar una vivienda, o que se nieguen a negociar para obtener una vivienda, o que de otra manera no se pueda acceder a una vivienda por motivos de raza o país de origen.

SITUACION FAMILIAR	Una mujer soltera con tres hijos solicita el alquiler de un apartamento de dos habitaciones y se le dice que no pueden residir más de tres personas en sus apartamentos de dos habitaciones. ¿Es esto discriminación?	Bajo las leyes de vivienda igualitaria, es ilegal establecer normas de ocupación demasiado restrictivas que discriminen a las familias con hijos
RELIGIÓN	Un hombre musulmán llega a casa y descubre que un insulto racial y religioso ha sido pintado con spray en la puerta de su apartamento. El inquilino le pide al gerente del edificio que arregle el daño a su puerta. El administrador del apartamento se niega a hacerlo. ¿Es esto discriminación?	Según las leyes de vivienda justa, es ilegal que los proveedores de vivienda acosen o dejen de tomar medidas correctivas en relación con las quejas por acoso racial o religioso.
DISCAPACIDAD	En el asilo para personas de la tercera edad, un anciano sordo pide que le proporcionen un intérprete de señas de ASL para poder comunicarse con su equipo médico del lugar los días en que se reúnan con él. El asilo de ancianos se niega a dar este servicio mencionando el gasto adicional como la razón para rechazar su solicitud. ¿Es esto discriminación?	De acuerdo a las leyes de vivienda igualitaria, es ilegal que los proveedores de vivienda se nieguen a proporcionar una adaptación razonable alterando las normas, políticas, prácticas o servicios para las personas con discapacidad cuando dicha adaptación sea necesaria para una comunicación eficaz de modo que la vivienda pueda ser utilizada y disfrutada plenamente.

What is Fair Housing?
Fair housing exists when individuals and families of similar income have the same housing choices regardless of race or color, ancestry or national origin, religion, sex, disability (physical & mental), marital or familial status, sexual orientation, gender identity, age, source of income, medical condition, genetic information, gender expression, and arbitrary status.

Housing discrimination is illegal. If you believe you have been the victim of housing discrimination, please call the Fair Housing Hotline at 1-844-449-3500. Click here for more information on common violations of Fair Housing Law and how to report violations.

Tenant-Landlord Mediation
When tenants or landlords have conflicts that are not related to discrimination, help is available.

If you are having a problem with your landlord, tenant, roommate, or neighbor, the Legal Aid Society of San Diego, Inc. provides free Fair Housing services and tenant/landlord referral information to Lemon Grove residents. Equal access to housing is everyone's right and if you believe you have been denied access to housing, the Federal government provides resources to help. As a recipient of federal funds to administer housing and community development services, the City of San Marcos must eliminate barriers to fair housing.

Posted: February 10, 2020
Updated: 5:10 PM by KUSI Newsroom

SAN DIEGO (KUSI) – The San Diego Regional Alliance for Fair Housing is working with the City of San Diego to train consumers on fair housing practices and new housing laws.

They are conducting a Fair Housing survey, which is available until Feb. 14, as well as holding workshops and seminars.

Fair Housing laws prohibit discrimination in all aspects of housing, including home sales, rentals, housing policies and financing. Each resident is entitled to equal access to housing opportunities regardless of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability/medical conditions, familial status, marital status, age, ancestry, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, source of income or any other arbitrary reason.

Christina Bibler, Economic Development, City of San Diego, and Rosalina Spencer, Legal Aid Society of San Diego, were in studio to tell us more about it.

Escondido hosts workshop on compliance with fair housing laws

By David Stone | 12 November 14, 2018 | 10:10 AM | 11:20 PM

ESCONDIDO – The process for ensuring San Diego County cities are complying with state and federal fair housing laws got off the ground and running at a Nov. 7 workshop held in the Mitchell Room of Escondido City Hall.

Convened by the San Diego Regional Alliance for Fair Housing, the workshop will be the only one of its sort held within North County. The information discussed and collected at the meeting will function as part of the survey data for the upcoming five-year fair housing cycle overseen by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and the California Department of Fair Employment and Housing, officially called the San Diego County Regional Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice 2021-25.

About a dozen residents attended the workshop, as did San Marcos City Councilman Randy Walton and Escondido Deputy Mayor Conner Martinez. City staff members responsible with overseeing housing issues from Escondido, San Marcos, Escondido, Encinitas and Carlsbad all attended the workshop, as well.

The San Diego Regional Alliance for Fair Housing, formerly known as the Fair Housing Resources Board, is an alliance of San Diego County cities which pool resources and efforts to comply with fair housing laws. Those compliance efforts start with the survey process.
